

Abstract of the Disclosure:

An electronic module contains a semiconductor chip that has flexible chip contacts. The flexible chip contacts are disposed on an uppermost metallization layer and have a dimensionally stable contact plate which is connected to contact surfaces on the uppermost metallization layer via electrically conductive components in an elastomeric embedding compound.

REL/nt